

Celebrate Black History Month!

Black Trailblazers in Finance YouTube Video Series

About the Resource

In honor of Black History Month, this curated YouTube playlist from the SIFMA Foundation spotlights the achievements and lasting impact of Black leaders in finance, economics, business, and entrepreneurship.

Through engaging short videos, educators and students explore how these trailblazers broke barriers, influenced financial systems, and expanded economic opportunity in the United States.

Why Use This Resource During Black History Month?

- Highlights often underrepresented contributions to finance and economics
- Connects historical narratives to modern financial systems
- Encourages student discussions about equity, access, and opportunity

Classroom Connections

Financial literacy, economic history, career exploration, entrepreneurship, and personal finance decision-making.

Recommended For

Middle and high school classrooms, educator professional learning, and Black History Month enrichment activities.
